Invitation to a Café Collaborations event about

Resilience and Solidarity in the 21st Century Nordic Inspiration

The grand challenges of the 21st century are global and ignore borders in an interconnected world. Our population is under tremendous pressure. Most people have never witnessed such a global threat as the covid pandemic, war in the immediate neighbourhood, as well as terrorist attacks of unprecedented scale and brutality. Collective resilience, the ability of human beings to adapt and collectively cope with crises in adversity, is therefore a key issue today.

Contemporary democracies face such challenges and such complex political problems that, if not addressed, can lead to crises that threaten the survival, quality or performance of democracy and the stability of society.

How can the new generation prepare for these challenges?

These questions as well as best practice examples from Czechia and Nordic countries will be discussed by:

H.E. Fredrik Jörgensen, Ambassador of Sweden to the Czech Republic, holds a master's degree in law Stockholm University. He has been in the Swedish diplomatic service since the late 1980s

Ing. Lenka Henebergová is responsible for Social Affairs and Sustainable Development, focusing on gender equality and social sustainability initiatives

H.E. Pasi Tuominen, Ambassador of Finland to the Czech Republic and Slovakia, holds a master's degree of Laws from the University of Helsinki and a master's degree in social sciences from the University of Tampere
